

Intraday Price Reversals Checklist

Quickly assess if market conditions are suitable for a potential upcoming reversal.

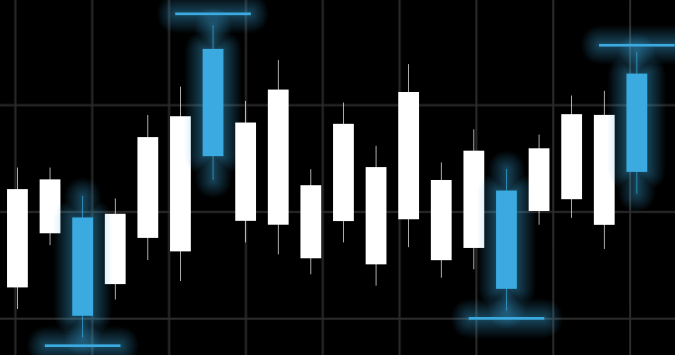

Market Conditions

- What is the duration of the move?
- What is the urgency of the move?
- What is the typical time between rotations?
- Is there a catalyst present or not?
- Is the time of day a key factor?
- What is the higher time frame price position?

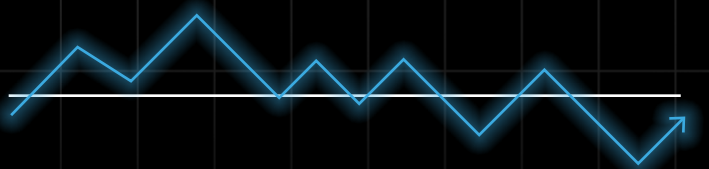

Price Levels

- Are we near to the prior HLC?
- How far away is today's OHL?
- Where is the expected daily range in relation to the trade?
- Any static key levels to be aware of?
- Any dynamic levels to be aware of?

Trade Risk

- Is there any event risk scheduled?
- How much headline risk is there?
- Where would my stop need to be for this trade?
- Does the Risk v Reward ratio stack up?
- Is this a potential runner or a scalp trade?
- Where is the best entry for this trade?

The broker you can trust when markets are volatile.

Reliable. Fast. Razor sharp spreads. Exceptional service.

Forex | Indices | Commodities | Shares | ETFs

74.7% of retail investor accounts lose money when trading spread bets and CFDs with this provider. You should consider whether you understand how spread bets and CFDs work, and whether you can afford to take the high risk of losing your money.